Excise Tax Cut by 1966 Seen in Some Circles

By ADREN COOPER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's long-range plans call for a cut in excise taxes in 1966 and another reduction in income taxes the following year, informed sources said today.

They said there is a strong possibility President Johnson will announce this tentative timetable during next fall's presidential campaign.

There have been a few public hints of further tax revision. On April 28, Johnson said he could "see another tax cut a few years down the road" if the $12-billion income tax reduction enacted this year stimulated the economy into providing enough revenue to balance the budget.

There are signs that the administration would consider clipping almost every category of excise taxes, although there may be both congressional and administration opposition to trimming some earmarked taxes, such as gasoline and vehicle taxes used for federal-state road programs.

In February, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said at a news conference that reductions in excise taxes could come in 1965, but he indicated that such cuts might not be pushed until 1966 or later.

During Senate consideration of the tax cut bill some senators demanded reduction in excises along with the income tax reduction. Proponents of the tax reduction.

Freight Firms Want Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Commerce Commission will start a hearing here Thursday on a request from 72 transportation firms for a 15 per cent rate increase on intrastate traffic.

The request was made by the Southwestern Motor Freight Bureau Inc., of Dallas for 12 railroads and 60 trucking firms.

The bureau said the intrastate rates are below interstate rates, and unreasonably low in relation to costs. The commission said it expected formal protests to the proposed increase.

Stevenson Replies to UN Critics

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson replies to critics of U.S. policy in South Viet Nam before the U.N. Security Council today following France's rejection of American proposals to deal with the Cambodian border dispute.

The U.S. chief delegate was expected to answer France's call for a council resolution deplored recent violations of Cambodia's frontiers and proposing that "those who bear responsibility should pay reparations."

French Ambassador Roger Seydoux came out Monday against Stevenson's proposal that the United Nations police the disputed frontier if South Viet Nam and Cambodia cannot agree on joint border patrols linked to the U.N.

Splitting with the United States and Britain, Seydoux also supported Cambodia's request to reconvene the 14-nation Geneva conference on Indochina to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

The United States and Britain contend that Communist aggression from North Viet Nam constitutes the main cause of the crisis in Southeast Asia, and that an international conference will not do anything about that.

First of '4 Seasons' Tabloid Magazines in Hope Star Tomorrow

Every since publication of the Golden West Pictorial in April 1959 The Star's editor has been approaching the idea of an entirely home-produced magazine for the newspaper.

It would be too much to ask Hope to support a magazine production every week but your editor came up with this idea: The Four Seasons Tabloid, produced to match the seasonal changes in merchandise, and incorporating local pictures and substantial prizes for both picture and local writing contests.

We turned the idea over to Advertising Manager Don Parker to check the "box office" temperature—and it was a smash hit... sold out more than two weeks ago.

You will see it in The Star tomorrow—a 16-page tabloid magazine, produced entirely by the newspaper's own staff, on standard newsprint.

Among other features it will offer a total of $100 for the best vacation pictures submitted to The Star before Labor Day. Details of the contest will appear from day to day, and placards describing it will be placed with drugstores, newsstands, and wherever photo films are sold, throughout the Hope retail trading zone.

Price of the edition will be the usual 10c, and if you want extra copies telephone Hope Star at PR 7-3431 at once. It will be an excellent "mail-away" for our town to friends and business acquaintances.

Nude Man Is Jailed by Local Police

Local police yesterday about 4 p.m. arrested a man listed as Donald Fay Denham, 22, in the 100 block on West Avenue D and charged him with indecent exposure. Officers said the man lives on Hope Rt. 4.

Police received a call from two women who reported a nude man on the street. By the time Officer Smyard of the Police Force and Sheriff Jimmie Griffin arrived Denham was dressed but was identified by the women who called.

Some time ago Police had another call about a nude man at a local washateria but he fled before they arrived. The woman who called police to the washateria identified Denham yesterday after he was arrested. Officers said Denham was being held in Hempstead County Jail.

Ministers Voice Against Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Greater Little Rock Ministerial Association opposed through a resolution adopted Monday the proposed constitutional amendment to legalize casino gambling at Hot Springs.

The resolution said the association was "noting with some relief the shut-down of casino gambling in Hot Springs on orders from the governor, but asking why the enforcement of law was not also extended to that which prohibits the sale of mixed drinks."

Annexation Appeal Is Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court said Monday it had dismissed, for lack of a "substantial federal question," an appeal of the annexation of 7.52 square miles by Pine Bluff, Ark.

The dismissal let stand a state law allowing a city to vote on annexation without letting the residents of the annexed area vote.

Pine Bluff approved the annexation in November of 1961. W. S. Rogers and other residents of the annexed area contested the annexation, which was upheld by the Jefferson Circuit Court and affirmed by the state Supreme Court last October.

The annexation added about 7,500 to Pine Bluff's 44,037 population.

Neutralists in Laos Claim Some Success

By TONY ESCODA
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian neutralists claimed today that part of their army had launched a counterattack and driven the Communists back in the Muong Kheung sector northwest of the Plaine des Jarres.

Gen. Amkha Soukhavong, neutralist military adviser to Premier Souvanna Phouma, said the Communists had been stopped 12 miles short of their next objective, Muong Soui, on a main east-west highway from the main east-west highway from the plain.

Unofficial reports told of clashes only seven miles from Muong Soui.

Amkha said a battalion of neutralist infantry, 19 tanks and 8 armored cars, which had been routed from their headquarters at Muong Kheung, on the north-west fringe of the strategic plain recaptured two-thirds of the sector.

Prince Souvanna warned the National Assembly that if Muong Soui fell, the Communists would threaten the royal capital of Luang Prabang and Vang Vieng on the main road south to Vientiane.

Some 2,500 right-wing troops were spread out in a defense line above Borikhan, about 25 air miles east of Vientiane. The village is the last major right-wing defense point between another Communist force and the rightist-controlled town of Pakxane, on the Mekong River border with Thailand.

The Communists captured the town of Tha Thom 12 days ago and are using it as a base for a move against Borikhan less than 20 miles away.

Souvanna told the assembly he rejected an invitation by the Pathet Lao chief, Prince Souphanouvong, to go to his Khang Khay headquarters for peace talks. Souvanna said he asked Souphanouvong to meet with him at Luang Prabang.

Diplomatic sources said Britain is considering issuing invitations for a consultation here of ambassadors from the 14 nations of the Geneva conference on Laos to discuss steps to avoid further deterioration of the situation.

Communist countries are demanding a full-fledged Geneva conference be reconvened and are not expected to take part in local consultations.

Legal Chain Is Being Set Up

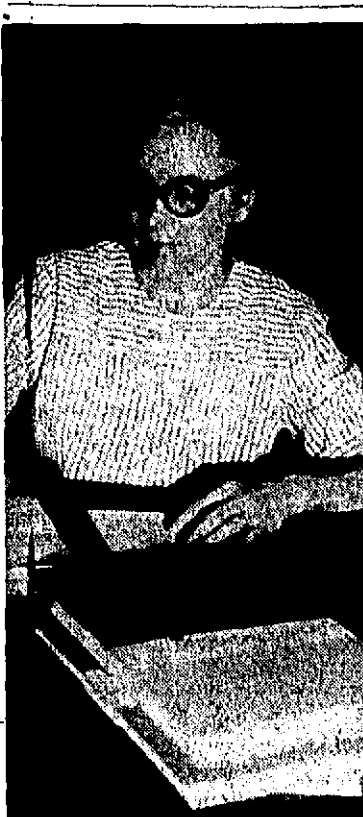

MEMPHIS (AP) — A legal command post for handling the defense of hundreds of civil rights demonstrators expected to risk arrest in Mississippi this summer is being set up here.

A. W. Willis Jr., Memphis Negro attorney, said Monday the office is expected to handle cases mainly from the north half of Mississippi but would take civil rights cases "wherever they develop."

Willis said the office, to open in mid-June, would be headed by an attorney from the NAACP national headquarters. He said about 14 lawyers, both white and Negro, would make up the legal staff, working on a rotation basis.

"There are only three Negro lawyers in Mississippi," Willis said, "and apparently they are expecting hundreds of arrests."

Memorial Fund for Cancer

With Memorial Day approaching, there is a special emphasis on the "Living Memorial" Program of the American Cancer Society, according to Mrs. Olin Furtell, 1120 W. 7th, Hope, Ark., chairman for the Cancer Society.

"Making a contribution to the Society's Memorial fund is a fitting and practical way to help save the living and commemorate a loved one who has died of cancer or other cause," Mrs. Furtell pointed out.

"The funds of the American Cancer Society, including Memorial Gifts, go toward saving lives in the present and many times more in the future through coordinated programs of Education, Research and Service," Mrs. Furtell said.

The American Cancer Society sends a dignified Memorial Card to the family of the person in whose memory the gift is made and also sends an acknowledgment to the donor.

Mrs. Furtell said, "On behalf of the American Cancer Society, I urge thoughtful support of the 'Living Memorial' Program on the approaching Memorial Day. This support will help save lives today from the tragedy of cancer."

Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Olin Furtell at the above address, and they will be promptly acknowledged. Hempstead County will be credited with the amount given.

New Lights for Legion Ball Field

The Hope Water and Light Commission has made funds available for the installation of a new lighting system at Legion Baseball Field at Fair Park. The City Electric Dept. has completed installation of the new fixtures, making the field a very adequate facility for use by the Parks and Recreation Department.

The new system includes 100 Steber Aluminum open-type floodlights, which will bring the candle power rating up to standards recommended by American Legion Baseball and National Babe Ruth League, Inc. This type fixture is specified by Arkansas Power and Light on almost all of its outdoor lighting arrangements.

Approximately 100 games are played on this field each summer and members of the Water and Light Commission were unanimous in the opinion that new light fixtures were necessary to make the lighting system adequate for the caliber of baseball being played on Legion Field.

The new installation, almost exactly identical to the existing lighting system at City Park, will give Hope two of the best lighted full-scale baseball diamonds in the State.

Rights Bill Amendments Slated Today

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders plan to introduce today the package of amendments they are counting on to win passage of a revised civil rights bill.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen announced Monday after a fourth and final GOP conference on the proposed changes that they would be ready for introduction late today—the 64th day of Senate debate on civil rights.

He also predicted that the votes will be available to shut off a Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation. "I believe we can get cloture," he said. "And I think we have to have cloture now."

Dirksen said the changes will be discussed thoroughly and ample time will be allowed for rebuttal by Southern senators, who already have pronounced the package completely unacceptable.

Some senators have said an attempt will be made the second week in June to get the two-thirds vote needed to invoke cloture and shut off the Dixie oratory that has blocked action on the House-passed bill.

Dirksen said this may be a little early.

He noted that a jury trial amendment has been before the

McClellan Assured His Plan Alive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has assured Monday that 34 amendments he offered would still be eligible for consideration when a bipartisan substitute package of amendments is offered to the Senate.

Sen. E. L. (Bob) Bartlett, D-Alaska, presiding, gave the assurance when the Arkansas senator asked if his amendments would be eligible even if cloture is voted.

Resuming the fight against the bill, McClellan spoke in favor of an amendment to provide jury trials on request in criminal contempt cases arising out of violations of the civil rights bill.

"What I have said before and what I continue to reiterate is that the right to trial by jury is one of the most precious heritages of the American people," McClellan said.

He said that even if the opponents are not able to defeat the bill in its entirety, if they can write a jury trial amendment into it, "We will have preserved one of the fundamentals of our liberty."

Big Problems in Small Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Advisory Council on Public Elementary and Secondary Education held its first meeting Monday and generally concluded small schools have the most problems.

The group was created by the 1963 Legislature to find out what is wrong with education in the state. It must come up with recommended legislation to improve Arkansas schools by the time the 1965 General Assembly meets.

The meeting was for a preliminary briefing by state Education Department staff members on an extensive study being done on all state school districts.

J. H. Wasson, assistant education commissioner for institutional services, said the state has not basically changed public school operational structure since 1874, the date the present state constitution was adopted. Reports indicated the cost per pupil is highest in small schools.

Golf Has Come Long Way Since

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — Back before the turn of the century, President William McKinley, holidaying in Hot Springs, Va., created a national crisis by suggesting that he would like to play a round of golf.

"Horrors," was the shocked reaction of his advisers. "It's too undignified. It could tear down confidence in the administration."

Some 65 years later — today over the renowned Merion Golf Club — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the most avid of America's golfing presidents, takes to the tee in a charity exhibition match with Masters Champion Arnold Palmer, veteran pro Jimmy Demaret and dancer Ray Bolger. Nobody is shocked. People paying $50 and $100 for admission to the 18-hole benefit for the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania are just curious.

Does Ike slice or hook, like the weekend duffer? Does he blow his stack when he flubs a three-foot putt? Does he mutter an expletive when he leaves a ball in the sand?

These were questions never answered during the eight years Eisenhower was president of the United States—1953 through 1960. The White House press was not allowed to watch him play. His score was classified information like the atom bomb or the moon shot. People only discussed it in muffled whispers.

Now everybody will know. The former chief executive, a hale 73 despite a heart attack and two other illnesses during his years in the White House teams with Palmer against Demaret and Bolger.

The match starts at 1 p.m. (EST).

Eisenhower was certainly the most-dedicated if not the best golfer ever to occupy the White House. To relax from pressures of his office, he took frequent golfing breaks at Augusta, Ga., site of the Masters tournament.

He played every chance he got. Golfing cronies said he was a fierce competitor who shut himself off from the rest of the world when he teed off. He shot as low as 79 and as high as 95. His big weakness, friends said, was impatience. He played too fast, putted without studying his assignment. But he loved it all.

It wasn't always easy for chief executives to indulge in the fairway sport without drawing criticism.

When McKinley wanted to play in 1897, shock reverberated through the halls of Congress. The Cabinet debated the propriety of the action. The Boston Evening Record published a copyrighted story that nothing was wrong with a president playing golf as long as he was shielded from "curious on-lookers."

The dubious, 300-pound William Howard Taft didn't care. He played regularly, even though it was hard for him to get the club around his expansive midsection. He often took 12 on a single hole in good humor.

GIBRALTAR, Mich. (AP)—A couple of dozen mallards are making themselves at home in this Detroit suburb, but their days as town characters may be numbered.

The ducks waddle around town quacking for handouts. They have been known to march down the aisles of a grocery store, sampling merchandise. They lay their eggs wherever they please.

Development Bill Signed by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson put the finishing touches on a major foreign aid victory today by signing legislation authorizing a $312 million U.S. contribution to funds of the International Development Association (IDA).

He called the measure "international sharing at its best."

The legislation assures IDA, a World Bank affiliate, of a $750 million replenishment of its loan capital from the United States and 16 other industrially advanced nations over a three-year period beginning July 1, 1965.

The $438 million pledged by other member countries would be lost in the absence of the U.S. contribution.

IDA was established in 1960, at the urging of Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., to provide a source of capital for long-term, easy pay loans to underdeveloped countries unable to meet the cost of private capital or World Bank loans.

Originally passed by the Senate Jan. 20, the resolution ran into trouble in the House. After floor debate on Feb. 25 and 26, the House voted 208 to 188 to recommit it to its Banking Committee.

Following a special message to Congress by Johnson urging reconsideration, and testimony by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, the measure was reported back to the House in language identical to the Senate version.

Then, on May 13, the House reversed its earlier stand and passed it by voice vote after a Republican motion to return it a second time to committee was rejected, 247 to 132.

Apollo Orbit Delayed by Faulty Valve

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The first attempt to orbit an unmanned model of the Apollo moonship was postponed today to Thursday because of a frozen nitrogen valve in the ground support equipment.

The trouble occurred after the countdown on the giant Saturn I booster rocket had advanced to within an hour and 55 minutes of the scheduled launching time.

After wrestling unsuccessfully with the problem for nearly three hours, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration called off the shot for two days. The time is required to replace the faulty valve and check out the new system.

The valve is part of a system which pumps liquid nitrogen to cool an instrument package between the top of the rocket and the Apollo space craft.

Court to Act Quickly on Ridgeway

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court will expedite a decision on E. T. Ridgeway's suit for reinstatement as a candidate for governor, Chief Justice Carleton Harris said today.

Ridgeway filed the suit Monday, contesting Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett's ruling that he was ineligible to run for the Democratic nomination because he had been convicted of embezzlement.

A hearing is set on the suit in Pulaski Chancery Court Thursday.

Harris said today the Supreme Court will permit filing of an appeal on Friday if Pulaski Chancery Judge Murray O. Reed renders an immediate decision in the case.

The Supreme Court then would hear arguments in the case Monday, its last day of work before summer recess.

This apparently means Ridgeway could get a ruling on his suit Monday. The last day that names of candidates can be entered on the primary ballot is June 23.

Primary Elections in 3 States

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Control of Florida's Republican party and the selection of a Democratic senatorial opponent for Republican Bud Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach, spiced primary elections in three states today.

Sen. Barry Goldwater was certain to pick up strength in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination no matter what the outcome of today's Florida primary.

Two rival slates were entered — one pledged to the Arizona senator and endorsed by him and the second unpledged but with most of its members favoring him for the nomination.

In Oklahoma, officials predicted 500,000 voters would turn out for the runoff primary to decide whether U.S. Sen. J. Howard Edmondson or State Sen. Fred Harris will oppose Wilkinson in the November election. Wilkinson was nominated by Republicans for the Senate seat now held by Edmondson in the May 5 primary.

Most observers rated the bitter Democratic match tossup.

In Kentucky, widespread voter apathy was reported in a primary election to select Democratic and Republican nominees for the U.S. House of Representatives.

Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York continued campaigning in California for that state's June 2 presidential primary and its 86 GOP convention votes.

Monday, they both praised former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement defining the views which he hopes the 1964 Republican presidential nominee will hold.

In San Diego, Rockefeller said his position falls within the framework of Eisenhower's statement and Goldwater's does not. Goldwater issued a statement in Redding applauding Eisenhower for what he called "a public rebuke to those who would rule or ruin" the Republican party. He reportedly does not believe Eisenhower's comments are designed to derail his conservative campaign.

Excise levies cover a wide variety of products and services: cosmetics, jewelry, furs, telephone tolls, automobiles, gasoline, theater admissions, sporting goods, liquor and cigarettes.

These levies are expected to provide $14.6 billion in revenue during the fiscal year which begins July 1—an increase of $3 billion since 1960.

Proposals for further revisions in income tax rates obviously would be timed to coincide with the first balanced budget since 1960. Treasury officials talk about balancing the budget in fiscal 1967, which begins July 1, 1966, although they admit this is a tough target.

A dramatic improvement in federal finances obviously would improve the chances of persuading Congress to reduce taxes further.

Senate for three weeks without a final vote.

This issue must be decided before the leaders' amendment package can be put before the Senate. Dirksen said a consensus had not been reached yet on the best way to handle the jury trial question.

Many senators regard the floor discussion as a marking-time operation until the showdown—cloture—comes in June.

Dirksen said some additional language modifications were accepted as a result of the Republican caucuses on the bill, but that the package as disclosed last week remained pretty much intact.

Some GOP senators said after the session they believed that chances for passage of the bill had improved, but others voiced dissatisfaction.

Race Won't Matter in Kindergarten

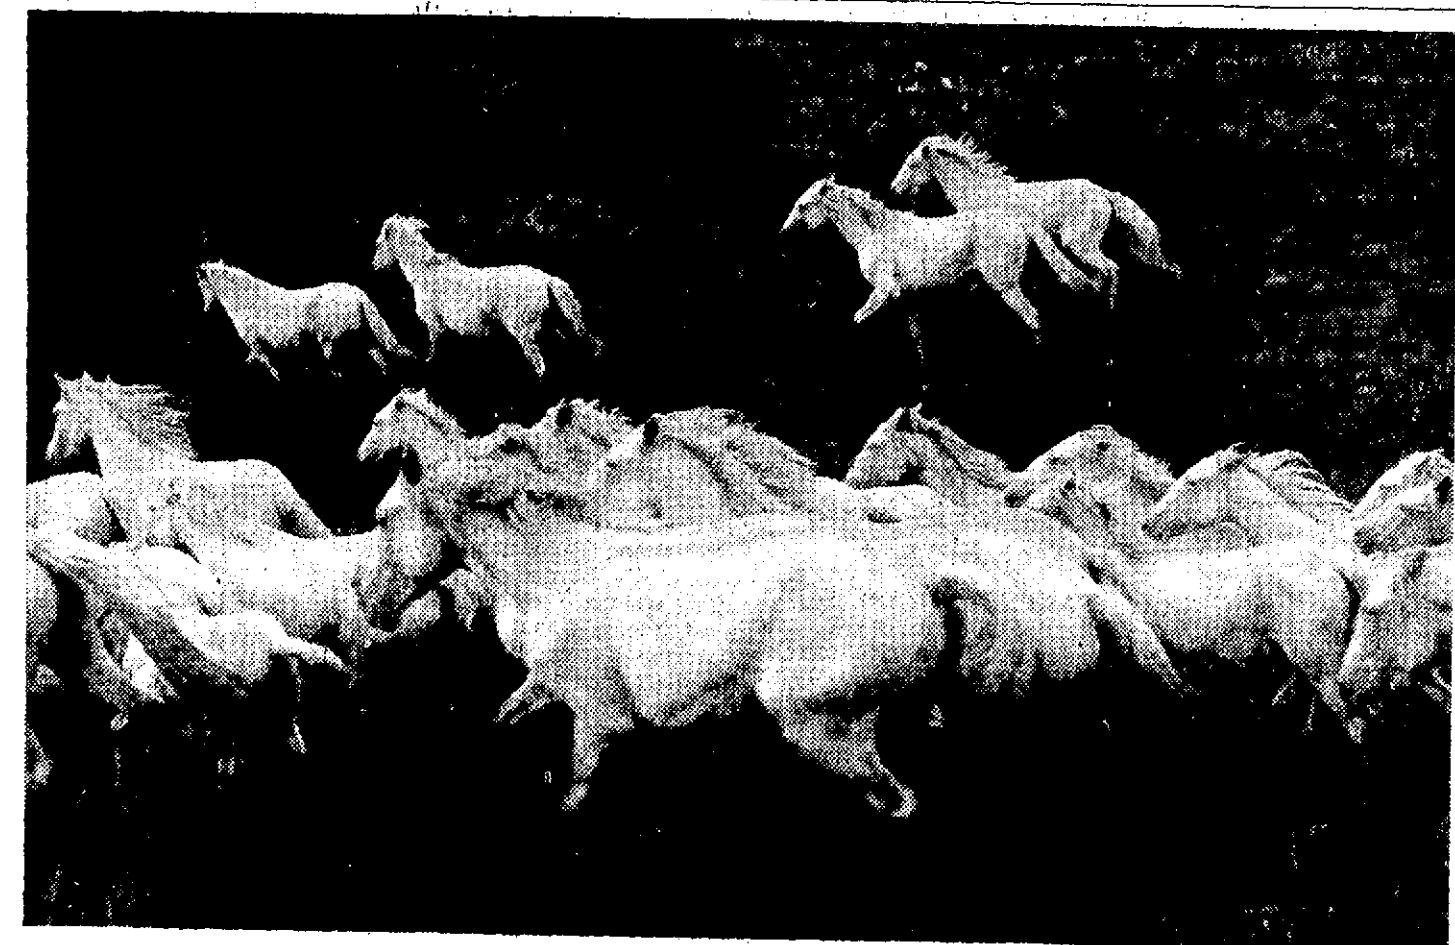

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Orleans Parish School Board voted Monday night to register kindergarten children for the 1964-65 school year without racial discrimination.

The action complied with an interim order handed down a few hours earlier by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank B. Ellis.

His order referred only to registration and not actual enrollment of kindergarten pupils. However he said in May 1963 that he would not order kindergarten desegregation until the 1964-65 school year.

Judge Ellis' interim order also set Aug. 10 for a hearing on a motion filed May 8 by A. P. Tureaud, attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, seeking "acceleration of public school desegregation."

The driver of the other car was Larry M. Lewis, 16. He was hurt as were two passengers, Bill Bowman, 16, and Pat Crawford, 14. All are from Little Rock.

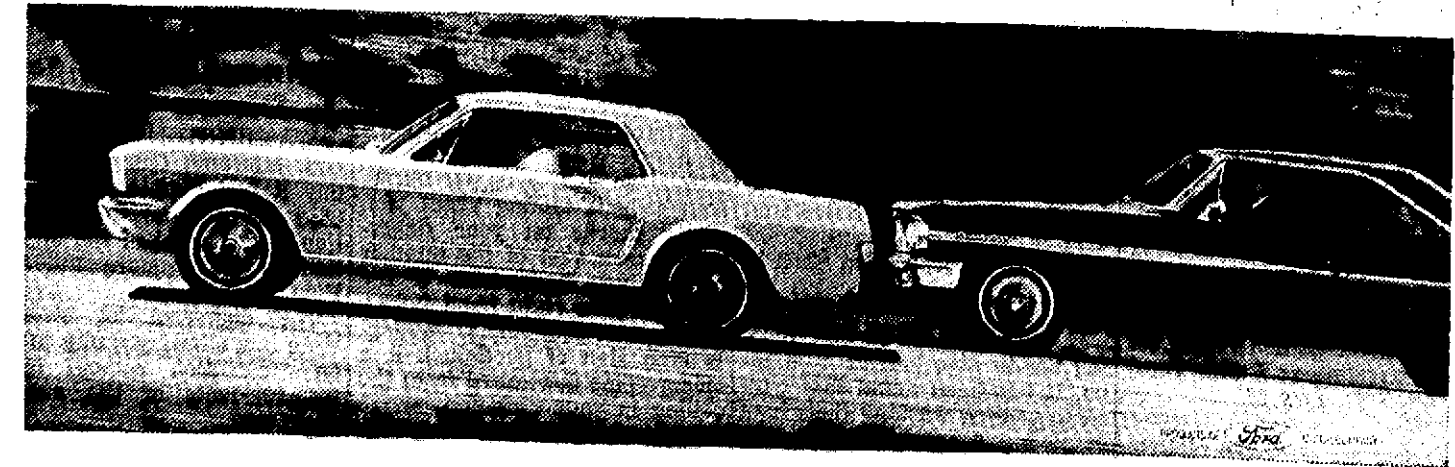

Mustang leads the stampede the big Ford started. This has been the hottest sales year in Ford Division history. We have a winner in the Super Torque Ford, a car so well built, so predictably tough, that competition-modified Fords took eleven of the last twelve NASCAR 500-mile races. Ford sales are up 17% this year. We have a luxury car that's taken off like a skyrocket: Thunderbird, with sales up 68%. Falcon is selling almost as many cars as Valiant and Chevy II combined. Fairlane continues to be a favorite in its own field. Now comes Mustang...

turning the trend to Ford into a downright stampede. Mustang, by any measure of sales or excitement, is the most successful new car ever introduced in America—ever. When you see a stampede, it makes sense to find out what started it. That's something only your Ford Dealer can tell you about.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The television industry honored its own Monday night by passing out statuettes which one winner—Chet Huntley—described as "a somewhat maligned and stardom young woman."

As television award shows go, the NBC program was long on irony and envelope-opening and short on entertainment. CBS, which officially turned its back on the ceremonies, scooped up the lion's share of the awards—13 in all, with five going to the "Dick Van Dyke Show," and three to "The Defenders."

CBS News, whose president kicked off the future over the awards, failed to win any in the news and documentary categories. But "The Making of the President, 1960," which was broadcast on ABC, which also joined the walkout, picked up four awards, including "Program of the Year." The program was made by an independent packager, David Wolper.

NBC was second with nine awards and ABC had five. Even if the voting methods of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences can be criticized, it would be hard to quarrel with the final results.

CBS, in a bit of enterprising broadcasting, will have Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sen. Edward Kennedy, Britain's former Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and Irish Prime Minister Sean Lemass on a live transatlantic discussion of the late president's spiritual legacy. The half-hour program, using Telstar, will be televised here and abroad on Kennedy's 47th birthday anniversary Friday.

Dr. Luck to Head Registration Push

"DEAR ABBY"

IT DEPENDS ON THE "BOY!"

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: The letter from "ONE BOY'S MOTHER" has been on my mind ever since I read it. Four years ago my boy went into the Navy. He was a good Christian boy then. My neighbor told me he wouldn't be "good" long. Abby, he is a better Christian today than he was when he went in. He neither drinks nor smokes. The Navy doesn't make our boys do anything they wouldn't do if they were home. Don't blame Uncle Sam. He had him for only a few months. His mother had him for 17 years. The Good Book says, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it." (Proverbs: 22:6)

ANOTHER BOY'S MOTHER

Dear Abby: I read in your column that a mother was upset because she believed that her 17-year-old son had been introduced to drinking in the Army. Your answer was A-O-K, but I'd like to put in my two cents' worth:

First of all, none of the armed services encourages drinking of any type, and anyone who is under age cannot legally buy drinks ON or OFF a Military Installation. Of course there are always some idiots who will buy drinks for kids. But that can happen in your home town or neighborhood. As you said, Abby, "It takes two to violate the law—the buyer and the seller." And the Army sure isn't one of them.

OLE SARGE

Dear Abby: About the mother who thought she smelled spirits on her son's breath when he got off the bus from Fort Leonard Wood: She probably did! And somebody should tell her that a "boy" in uniform can get a drink anywhere in the world, which is as it should be. The uniform indicates that instead of a "boy" he is now a man, who, after training, may be called upon to have his 17-year-old guts dumped into a Viet Nameuse rice paddy. Three points will get you 15.4 that this is the same mother who makes her son wear his uniform to church when he's home on leave, so she can show him off as a "man."

R.S.D. (Ex-Sgt.)

Dear Abby: If "LOOKING" and others like him do not wish to do a hitch in one of the armed services, there is an alternative—the Peace Corps.

UNEASY LIES THE DEAD

The Story: Milo March, an insurance investigator, has just finished a case and on his last night in Cleveland he drops in at a club which has a pretty singer named Lola Crane. The proprietor of the club, Nick Polti, asks Milo quite pointedly why he is in town and then warns Milo to stay away from Lola.

I was still fuming a half-hour later when Lola Crane came back to sing again. But as I listened to her voice I relaxed and began to forget about my anger. When she did her last song I got up and walked over to meet her as she came off the stage.

"Still feel like joining me for that drink?"

"Uh-huh. Just as soon as I change."

"Tell me one thing first," I said. "Who's this Nick Polti?"

She stared at me for a full minute. "You really don't know?"

"Never heard of him in my life."

"That's because you're not from Cleveland," she said slowly. "He's a big man around here."

"You mean he's a big man in the racket?"

"That's what a lot of people say," she told me. "Why?"

"I only asked you that because he told me to stay away from you."

Her face twisted into a crooked smile. "So now you're going to tell me that you suddenly remembered that you had something else to do tonight?"

"Not at all. I thought maybe you'd want to change your mind."

"He doesn't tell me what to do."

"Okay, then honey. It's a date. Go change your clothes. I'll be . . ."

Sombody tapped me on the shoulder. I looked around. It was the big gorilla again.

"The boss told you to stay away from the broad," he said. "Just then I heard a voice calling from the bar. 'Emil,' it said, 'see if there's a Mr. March in the place. Sombody wants him on the phone.'"

I half-turned. That was when he hit me. Fortunately it was a little high, catching me on the cheek, or I might have been out like a shorted light. As it was, I stumbled back a few steps, then hit the floor. My head was ringing. I shook it and got slowly to my feet. The orchestra had suddenly started playing louder.

"I should have known that was about about your speed," I told Rocks. "Why don't you hit me when I'm looking at you?"

He made a sound deep in his throat and rushed me, which was what I wanted. I stepped to one side and planted a hard right in his ribs as he went by.

"Okay, Sherlock," I said. "We have a little job for you." "I'll be back in New York tomorrow."

"As a matter of fact, Milo, the case is partly in Cleveland. That's why I wanted to catch before you left."

I sighed. "All right. What is it?"

It's too big to tell you on the phone. We have a branch office in Cleveland. Drop around there tomorrow and they'll give you the whole story. See Frank Hudson. He's got all the details. Don't fail us on this one, Milo. It's a big one."

"You make it sound like somebody stole Lake Erie," I said. "I think I can promise you a healthy bonus on this one if you deliver for us."

"I always like to hear you say that, Martin—the gritted teeth, the strained voice, the tear in the eye."

I hung up and left the booth. I went over to the bar and had another drink while I waited. She came in just as I was finishing my drink. She looked just as good in street clothes as she did in the evening dress.

"Hit," I said as she came up. "Did I remember to tell you that you're beautiful?"

"No," she said. She smiled wanly, looking frightened. "Where's Rocks?"

"I don't know. The body was gone when I came back from taking my phone call. Don't worry about it."

"All right," she said, but I noticed that she glanced over her shoulder nervously.

"I'll tell you what, honey. Let's go somewhere else and have our drink."

Hudson was a road-company version of Martin Raymond. He had the handshake of the young executive who knows who's going to salute the flag when he runs it up the pole.

"Well, it's a pleasure to have you here," he said. "Martin was telling me how much good work you've done for the company. And I've read some of the reports, of course." The last sentence was thrown in to show me that he was important, too. He'd probably never even heard of one of my reports before.

"Of course," I said solemnly. "Martin said that you'd give me the details on the case."

"Remember the name Thomas Rako?"

I dredged something up out of my memory. "Somebody bumped him off a few years ago, or something of the sort."

"Close enough," he said. Rako was the business manager of the Carrier Worker Union of America here in Cleveland. He was called up before a Congressional committee a few years ago and took the Fifth. The next day he vanished."

"I remember now," I said. The Carrier Workers and Johnny Clark. He's the guy who set out to buck the Teamsters."

"Well, he didn't quite do that. He's taken a lot of locals away from the Teamsters. Then he has the one local that covers every kind of job you can think of because all of them need some sort of transportation. That local has its headquarters here in Cleveland and Thomas Rako was the head of it until he vanished."

"Don't tell me that Intercontinental carried insurance on Rako?"

"That's it," he said. "Two policies: one in which his wife was the beneficiary and another in which the beneficiary was the Rako Trucking Company here in Cleveland."

"Tell me the rest of the bad news," I said.

"Rako disappeared six years ago and 11 months. Nothing has been heard of him since. In 30 more days the courts can declare him legally dead, and Intercontinental will have to pay up."

"How much?"

"One million dollars. Each policy is for a half million."

"Good old Martin Raymond," I said. "I should have known that he wouldn't spend half the night trying to get me unless it was something like that. Who owns the trucking company that's the beneficiary in one policy? Rako?"

"Mrs. Grace Rako and Mrs. Helen Clark. She's the wife of"

Who Said Baseball Is Dying Sport?

NEW YORK (AP)—Who said that baseball is a dying sport. A survey of attendance figures indicated Tuesday that big league baseball is a healthy patient, particularly the National League in which an all-time high looms for the second straight season.

The senior circuit gate is up 273,740, or 11 per cent, over last season. The American League has a decrease of 205,449. But the overall totals show an increase of 68,291, despite cold and rainy weather in the opening weeks.

Twelve of the 20 teams are ahead of 1963, led by the Los Angeles Dodgers, who have played before 729,973 at home—a gain of 99,543. The Cleveland Indians show the largest increase in the American League, 66,993.

Other teams on the plus side in home attendance are the Milwaukee Braves 57,778, Philadelphia Phillies 57,747, Chicago Cubs 32,655, Detroit Tigers 22,277, New York Mets 18,646, Chicago White Sox 13,827, San Francisco Giants 12,397, Baltimore Orioles 10,254, St. Louis Cardinals 4,855 and Houston Colts

the President of the Carrier Workers."

I was remembering more. The Congressional hearings were held because the committee claimed that Johnny Clark had used union money to set up the trucking firm which was owned by his wife and Thomas Rako's. It was Rako who was the key witness and he had disappeared.

"I don't suppose," I said, anyone's been looking for Rako since he did the vanishing act?"

"Oh, yes," Hudson said cheerfully. "I believe the police of several states have been active and so have the men of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

"Great. They've been looking for him for six years and 11 months without any success and now I'm supposed to find him in 30 days."

"Mr. Raymond has great confidence in you," he said.

Hudson called his secretary, who brought me the file and led me to an unoccupied office where I could look at it. (To Be Continued)

Souchak Big Casualty in Opening Round

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when burly Mike Souchak, the old Duke football place-kicker, thought he had his golf game back in shape after a two-year slump he got thrown for a loss.

Mike was the biggest casualty as a field of about 2,000 started on the long qualifying trail to the U.S. Open at Washington, June 18-20.

Local qualifying rounds over 36 holes were staged at 54 courses Monday. Three more tests will be held today, all in the metropolitan New York area.

A total of 428 golfers will advance to the sectional qualifying rounds scheduled for June 8-9.

Twenty-one players, including defending champion Julius Boros and recent champions Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Gene Littler, are exempt from all qualifying, and 45 others were allowed to skip the local test.

Souchak's failure was the most noteworthy. Another was Bill Hyndman III, Walker Cupper and former runner-up in both the U.S. and British amateurs. He missed at Ambler, Pa.

In Phoenix, Frank Stranahan, former British Amateur champion and veteran pro tourist, failed to qualify when he soared to 73-86-159.

Nearly all their name players advanced.

Big Mike had expected to have little trouble. He tried at Memphis, scene of the Memphis Open last week which he won with a 72-hole score of 270, lowest on the tour this year.

That was Souchak's second victory in five weeks, and put him sixth on the money list with more than $22,000.

Cleveland and the New York Yankees were not scheduled while the entire National League was idle.

Landis, batting for starter Gary Peters, tied the score 3-3 and the White Sox took it from there. Al Weis then singled moved around to third on a balk and an infield out and scored the tie-breaker on Pete Ward's single berce Ron Hansen wrapped up the outburst with a two-run homer.

Ward and J. C. Martin also homered for Chicago while Peters brought his record to 5-2 with Hoyt Wilhelm's relief help.

Oliva scored three runs for the Twins and Hall drove in three in support of Camilo Pascual who brought his record to 6-2 with a four-hit, 10-strikeout performance. Oliva supplied the game's only homer, a two run shot in the first inning that was actually all Pascual needed.

Freehan doubled home a run in the first inning and scored on a single by Don Demeter, they homered in the fourth as the Tigers chased Steve Babber, Barber, a 20-game winner for the Orioles last year, failed in his fifth attempt to post victory No. 1. Ed Rakow was the winner, limiting Baltimore to two hits over the final 5-1-3 innings.

The Red Sox broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth when Bob Tillman drove in the lead run with a double following a single by Carl Yastrzemski and an error by Don Zimmer that let Roman Mejias reach base. A walk, and Don Blasingame's error and a single by Ed Bressoud scored the other two runs. John Kennedy homered for the Senators.

Mechanics and crewmen were going over the temperamental brutes part by part, looking for defects and signs of wear that could mean the difference between victory and a place far down the finish list Saturday.

The loudest sounds were the mutterings of mechanics and the click of golf balls on the Speedway golf course, half of which lies inside the track.

The cars will get back on the track again only briefly Thursday for carburetor tests. Then the silence will fall over the old track again until race time 11 a.m., EST Saturday.

Landis got off on the wrong foot this season when he had an argument with General Manager Ed Short over fees for television appearances. Landis wound up asking to be traded. Lopez countered by keeping the 30-year-old outfielder on the bench.

Up until last Thursday, Landis had been to the plate only five times. Then Lopez and Landis, who hit .272 when the White Sox won the pennant in 1959 but only .228 and .225 the last two years, got together to work out the problem.

"I felt a little odd about being out for so long," said Landis after lifting his average to .417 with the homer. "But I wasn't worried about getting out of shape, because I'm thin anyway and I was taking batting practice every day."

While Landis boosted his average, Minnesota rookie Tony Oliva raised the league's leading average to .391 with a 3-for-4 performance and Jimmie Hall stroked four hits in a 16-hit attack that carried the Twins to an 8-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

Elsewhere, Bill Freehan drove in two runs with a homer and double as Detroit whipped Baltimore 5-3 and Boston turned two errors into three unearned and a 6-5 victory over Washington.

Jim Landis, the hitting man's Jim Brosnan, has closed the book on his squabble with the Chicago White Sox and started to author an impressive batting average.

Landis, only four days removed from the White Sox doghouse, led off the seventh inning Monday night with his first homer of the season, a pinch-hit job that triggered Chicago's American League leaders to a four-run rally and a 7-4 victory over Kansas City.

It was the fourth hit in seven at-bats for Landis since a peace parley with Manager Al Lopez settled a dispute that threatened to wind up in a cause celebre almost as big as the one that cost pitcher-author Brosnan his job with the club.

Landis got off on the wrong foot this season when he had an argument with General Manager Ed Short over fees for television appearances. Landis wound up asking to be traded. Lopez countered by keeping the 30-year-old outfielder on the bench.

Up until last Thursday, Landis had been to the plate only five times. Then Lopez and Landis, who hit .272 when the White Sox won the pennant in 1959 but only .228 and .225 the last two years, got together to work out the problem.

"I felt a little odd about being out for so long," said Landis after lifting his average to .417 with the homer. "But I wasn't worried about getting out of shape, because I'm thin anyway and I was taking batting practice every day."

While Landis boosted his average, Minnesota rookie Tony Oliva raised the league's leading average to .391 with a 3-for-4 performance and Jimmie Hall stroked four hits in a 16-hit attack that carried the Twins to an 8-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

Elsewhere, Bill Freehan drove in two runs with a homer and double as Detroit whipped Baltimore 5-3 and Boston turned two errors into three unearned and a 6-5 victory over Washington.

Cleveland and the New York Yankees were not scheduled while the entire National League was idle.

Landis, batting for starter Gary Peters, tied the score 3-3 and the White Sox took it from there. Al Weis then singled moved around to third on a balk and an infield out and scored the tie-breaker on Pete Ward's single berce Ron Hansen wrapped up the outburst with a two-run homer.

Ward and J. C. Martin also homered for Chicago while Peters brought his record to 5-2 with Hoyt Wilhelm's relief help.

Oliva scored three runs for the Twins and Hall drove in three in support of Camilo Pascual who brought his record to 6-2 with a four-hit, 10-strikeout performance. Oliva supplied the game's only homer, a two run shot in the first inning that was actually all Pascual needed.

Freehan doubled home a run in the first inning and scored on a single by Don Demeter, they homered in the fourth as the Tigers chased Steve Babber, Barber, a 20-game winner for the Orioles last year, failed in his fifth attempt to post victory No. 1. Ed Rakow was the winner, limiting Baltimore to two hits over the final 5-1-3 innings.

The Red Sox broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth when Bob Tillman drove in the lead run with a double following a single by Carl Yastrzemski and an error by Don Zimmer that let Roman Mejias reach base. A walk, and Don Blasingame's error and a single by Ed Bressoud scored the other two runs. John Kennedy homered for the Senators.

Mechanics and crewmen were going over the temperamental brutes part by part, looking for defects and signs of wear that could mean the difference between victory and a place far down the finish list Saturday.

The loudest sounds were the mutterings of mechanics and the click of golf balls on the Speedway golf course, half of which lies inside the track.

The cars will get back on the track again only briefly Thursday for carburetor tests. Then the silence will fall over the old track again until race time 11 a.m., EST Saturday.
